London, 13 June 2017: PGS Software, software engineering company, is set to showcase its capabilities at Cloud and DevOps World on 13th – 16th June 2017 at ExCel, London.

Cloud and DevOps World is foremost industry event for DevOps professionals. Now part of an enterprise focused technology festival called TechXLR8, it brings together the industry's leading technologists and innovators to discuss cloud innovation, DevOps, containers, serverless architecture, regulation, cloud management micro services and much more.

Visitors to the PGS Software stand CL214 will be able to meet the company's experts in the field of DevOps, share your challenges and find out first-hand about how the company's approach can accelerate the progress of your project leading to its successful conclusion. Case studies and a white paper entitled DevOps- Just Another Hype? will be available for visitors who want to know more about how adopting a DevOps approach can overcome the barrier between development teams and operation teams that can hinder the progress and success of a project and thereby reduce time and cost to market for new software.

"DevOps has gone from being a little-known term to a buzzword on the lips of everyone in the industry. At PGS Software we believe it is an enabler to help the development and operations departments work together more coherently and thereby produce better results. Visitors to our stand will be able to speak to our experts and learn how our approach can deliver tangible benefits. In our experience it has helped to get apps deployed as quickly, safely, and efficiently as possible. Our teams all work according to DevOps principles, and because we have already been doing this for many years, we are able to seamlessly integrate with your teams, at whatever stage of your DevOps journey you may be at" says Wojciech Gurgul, CEO, PGS Software.

Visitors to the stand will also be able to take part in a prize draw to win a drone. The prize draw is free to enter. The winner will be announced at the end of the show.
